Victim's Father Heard News At Son's Grave

By Len Colson

A light rain was falling early Friday as the father of one of Charles Starkweather's murder victims stood at the grave of his son and heard the news that Starkweather had received a stay of execution.

Robert E. Jensen of Bennet, was standing his lonely vigil 6 a.m. Friday at the time Starkweather was scheduled to be executed. He said he had made it a point to be there at that time.

Just as he was to leave the grave the news of the stay of execution was flashed, said Jensen, who had left his car radio on while he stood at the grave.

"Surprised"

"I was surprised. I understood when I went to bed that it was all over with," said Jensen.

Jensen's son Robert, 17, was one of Starkweather's 11 admitted slaying victims.

Robert and his high school friend, Carol King, were shot and killed after stopping to offer aid to Starkweather and his sweetheart, Carl Fugate, whose car had stalled near Bennet.

Jensen said he was confident that Starkweather would not escape the death penalty.

"Technically"

"These are just technicalities in the law," he said.

Mrs. Jensen, who makes daily trips to put flowers on the grave of her son, said she was also surprised to hear of the stay.

Asked if she felt that Starkweather might escape with his life she replied, "I just don't know."

Other surprised Bennet citizens included some of the slain Bennet pair's classmates. They felt there shouldn't have been a delay in the execution.

A retired Bennet farmer, M. Litten who once farmed next to August Meyer, another of Starkweather's victims, said he could not understand why Starkweather expected to live.

"Deserved It"

"There was no reason for the crimes," he said. "I don't know anyone who was ever executed that ever deserved it more than him."

"It's too bad they didn't catch him in the (Bennet)

Starkweather Stay Beat Death 98 Min.

Smiled Broadly, Shook Chaplain's Hand

By Del Harding

Charles Starkweather was about 98 minutes from the electric chair when Federal District Judge Richard Robinson of Omaha stayed his scheduled 6 a.m. Friday execution.

Judge Robinson, after being contacted by phone and telegram by Charles' father, Guy, signed an order at 4:22 a.m. delaying the execution. The judge then immediately phoned Acting Penitentiary Warden John Greenholtz and told him he had stayed the impending electrocution and was sending him a written order to that effect.

Judge Robinson also phoned Gov. Ralph Brooks' administrative assistant, Robert Conrad, and informed him of his decision, which allows Starkweather until June 4 to appeal his case to the Federal Circuit Court. Gov. Brooks previously had refused to delay the execution.

With Chaplain

Penitentiary Chaplain Robert Klein said he was with Starkweather from about 3 to 5 a.m. Before word of the stay came through, Klein said the 20-year-old killer was calm.

"He clung to a slim thread of hope," Chaplain Klein said, "and reaffirmed in our conversations the thought that as long as there is life there is hope."

He said Starkweather smiled broadly and shook his hand when he informed him about 4:45 a.m. that he had been granted a stay.

Make Mother Happy

"This sure will make my mother happy," Starkweather told him.

Chaplain Klein said he and Starkweather then joined in offering a prayer of thanks-giving.

Greenholtz said word of the stay came through about 20 minutes before lawmen were to shave Starkweather's head and one leg in preparation for the execution.

Official witnesses and about 35 newsmen had already arrived in a pre-dawn thunderstorm at the prison's front entrance before word of the stay was released about 5 a.m.

Conrad arrived at the prison at 5:37 a.m. and read

Steps In U.S. Court Probable Next Week

...STAY ALLOWS 2 WEEKS FOR FILING ANY APPEAL

Charles Starkweather, who received an 11th-hour execution stay early Friday morning, is expected to continue his fight for life next week in the federal courts.

Federal District Judge Richard Robinson of Omaha ruled at 4:22 a.m. Friday that Starkweather should be allowed to carry his case to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and signed an order staying his execution and giving him until June 4 to file such an appeal.

Judge Robinson's ruling does not overrule a Thursday afternoon decision by Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt, who denied a habeas corpus petition filed by Starkweather. Judge Van Pelt had held that Starkweather's contention that he was not properly represented by counsel at his trial was not valid.

Judge Robinson did not rule on the merit of this contention, but only granted a delay in Starkweather's execution to allow the convicted mass killer to appeal Judge Van Pelt's ruling. Then the Circuit Court would appoint counsel for him.

Lincoln attorneys T. Clement Gaughan and William F. Matschullat were appointed in Lancaster District Court to defend the youth at his trial last May. Starkweather and his family have expressed dissatisfaction that Gaughan and Matschullat chose to base the 20-year-old redhead's defense on an insanity contention.

Starkweather may file an application with the Federal District Court asking that an attorney be appointed to represent him at the same time he files his appeal of Judge Van Pelt's ruling. Then the Circuit Court would appoint counsel for him.

Then To St. Louis

Federal court officials said such an appeal should be filed in Lincoln's Federal District Court, which would then forward notice of the appeal to Circuit Court headquarters in St. Louis, Mo.

Circuit Court Judge Archibald Gardner of Huron, S.D., presiding judge of this court district, said legal action in the case will be "expedited."

Judge Gardner told United Press International that as soon as the appeal is filed he will appoint 3 of the district's 7 Circuit Court judges to hear the appeal.

Lincoln Likely

The hearing on the appeal could be held in any desired city—Lincoln, Omaha, St. Louis or elsewhere. Sources speculated, however, that a Lincoln hearing would be likely.

Judge Gardner declined to speculate how long it would take the court to rule on the appeal.

But it appears likely that the execution stay, now expiring on June 4, will be extended to allow adequate time to consider the case.

If the Circuit Court judges deny the appeal, and the case is not appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, the court would "vacate" the stay.

Arms-Laden Transport Seized

DOMINICAN OFFICIAL IS ACCUSED

...AT MIAMI

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Federal officers Friday seized an arms-laden plane and charged 12 persons, including a Dominican Republic official, with conspiracy to export the guns and ammunition to that island nation.

Federal prosecutors would not confirm a report that the war materials were intended for an effort to overthrow Cuba's new revolutionary regime.

The Dominican government man—Augusta Ferrando, consul at Miami — also was charged with conspiracy to bribe a United States officer to let the arms go through. He furnished $25,000 bond.

Admitted to $10,000 bond on the same charges was Joseph Liquori, a Miami policeman who once worked for the Dominican Republic.

Liquori formerly was bodyguard to Dominican strong man Rafael Trujillo's playboy son, Rafael Jr., and accompanied young Trujillo on a west coast yacht cruise which made headlines in connection with parties attended by Hollywood film stars.

U.S. District Attorney James L. Guilmartin declined comment when asked about reports the rifles, automatic weapons and cartridges were destined for use in a counter-revolution in Cuba, whose former president took refuge in the Dominican Republic last New Year's Day.

Nine persons, including a woman, reportedly the plane's co-pilot, who were taken from the 4-engined C47 transport at Miami International Airport were bailed by U.S. Commissioner Roger E. Davis.

Rifles, automatic weapons and 200,000 rounds of ammunition were taken from the plane. They were reportedly intended for delivery in the Dominican Republic to friends of Fulgencio Batista, former dictator of Cuba.

Air Department To Keep Clarke, Obbink Declares

North Platte attorney Rush Clarke will continue to serve as special assistant attorney general for the State Aeronautes Department.

State Aeronautes Director Jack Obbink said he has had "no trouble agreeing with Clarke on matters pertaining to the Department."

"He will continue to serve as long as we feel he is handling our business in a way best suited to Nebraska and to aviation," Obbink added.

Terry Takes Back Liquor Measure

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff Friday withdrew a bill from the Legislature which would have forced liquor wholesalers in the state to sell without discrimination to any retailer in good standing in the state.

The bill, LB640, had been debated on general file and laid over.

Earlier, Carpenter said the purpose of the measure was to forbid wholesalers from threatening not to sell liquor to dealers if they cut the price.

Carpenter gave no reason for the withdrawal action. He received unanimous consent for the motion.

National Ruler Of Elks Gets The Bull—Alive

By Bill Anderson

The grand exalted ruler of the National Elks Assn. could hardly believe his eyes Friday—A massive bull walked into the Lincoln Elks Lodge and gave him a benevolent stare.

Horace R. Wisely of Salinas, Calif., national leader of the 1,250,000-member Elks organization, had seen many strange things in his travels through the 48 states, plus the 49th of Hawaii, but he couldn't quite figure this out until local Elks officials explained the unexpected visit.

The Nebraska State Elks Assn., kicking off the first day of the scheduled 3-day state convention, was presenting the Californian a 1,100-pound Hereford steer, with the compliments of the University of Nebraska's Department of Animal Husbandry.

Problems Solved

The problem of what to do with the Hereford then rose. Wisely couldn't take the animal along with him to Michigan when he leaves Lincoln. The imaginative Nebraska Elks had already solved that weighty problem.

They had arranged to substitute an equivalent number of pounds of frozen meat as a gift.

More than 1,000 Elks were on hand Friday to open the annual meeting.

Wisely praised the Nebraska organization for its activity, saying the state association now ranks 16th in the nation for achievement.

Fund Increased

He said the National Elks Foundation has increased its trust fund by some $500,000 in the last year. The money, among other things, provides some 110 national scholarships for youth annually. This is in addition to scholarships offered by state organizations, such as the three $500 Nebraska scholarships awarded each year.

There had been some thought on the part of some lawmakers that the intangibles reported to the county assessor should not be open to public scrutiny.

Charge 19 Youths In Drinking Party

Sidney, Neb. (AP) — Charges were on file in Cheyenne County Court Friday against 19 persons authorities said were involved in a teenage drinking party at a Sidney motel May 8.

The charges were filed against 10 boys and 9 girls. Six were charged with procuring liquor for minors and the remainder with being a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Mansion Visit

Other items on Friday's program included a ladies visit of the Nebraska Governor's Mansion and ritualistic contests.

Saturday includes business sessions in the morning and business and social sessions in the afternoon.

The state convention is being hosted by Lincoln Lodge No. 80, whose exalted ruler is George B. Klein.

Bottle Club Bill Unfair, Bowen Claims

Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud expressed his opposition to a bill calling for the licensing of "bottle clubs" on the grounds that it would legalize the sale of liquor by the drink on Sunday and allow non-profit organizations to compete unfairly with private enterprise.

The bill, LB23, introduced by Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and John Munnelly of Omaha, is scheduled for final passage for the second time next Monday.

It failed to pass last week when the 20-21 vote fell two short of the required number. The Legislature voted 28-13 Tuesday to reconsider its action, however.

On the motion of Sen. Bowen, the final reconsideration was held up until May 25.

The bill calls for two types of licenses for non-profit clubs, such as fraternal organizations and country clubs. One would allow such a club to handle liquor at wholesale, and the other would permit only handling of bottles brought in by club members.

Sen. Carpenter has described the measure as legalizing what such clubs are now doing "illegally."

Sen. Bowen said the bill as drawn would not prevent such non-profit clubs from selling liquor on Sunday and that the license fees prescribed would be considerably lower than those on Class C liquor licensees "who bear the burden of taxation."

Carpenter has said if the bill is not passed and approved, he may ask the Liquor Commission to close down on bottle clubs and that he would sign the complaints himself.

Board Anticipates Fourth Applicant For Warden Post

The Board of Control received a request Friday for application forms for the post of State Penitentiary warden, bringing the number of applicants to 4.

A letter from the governor said he turned down the claim because "it appears Mr. Carter is compensated for services to the Commission."

Brooks said that if bill drafting was in addition to his regular duties, then the legislative bill drafter should have done the work.

Liquor Commission Chairman Ray Osborn said "the bill is just and legitimate and should be paid."

German Study Prizes Awarded 6 NU Students

Council Holds For Study Proposal To Keep O Street Mall Until Fall

By Virgil Falloon

A proposal to extend the O street mall by two blocks and preserve it until early fall was taken under advisement Friday by the City Council.

Meanwhile, the Council informedly extended the life of the present mall until June 1 while a study of legal and other aspects of the proposal is being made.

The Lincoln Downtown Development Corp. proposed the mall's expansion and semi-permanency to permit "exhaustive study during the summer of a permanent development as to design, legal problems, financing, and traffic and mass transportation problems."

The studies would be made by the LDDC and its committees in cooperation with various city departments, such as planning and traffic, according to John Lawlor, LDDC president.

Barton Already Retained

Lawlor noted the group had retained George Barton, Chicago traffic engineer, to study downtown traffic before the mall idea came up.

But, he said, the "enthusiastic reception given the mall" has caused the LDDC to lay over the original study in favor of studying the possibility of a permanent downtown mall.

Barton has greeted the mall with enthusiasm and as a possible solution to the city's downtown and federal highway traffic problem, Lawlor said.

James Ebel, Centennial Committee chairman said the mall "received more favorable comment than anything else that was done" and that the group endorsed the LDDC proposal for its continuation.

As proposed, the mall would be extended to 14th and to

10th from its present 13th to 11th length and the cross streets would be left opened.

The mall's architect, L. A. Ersner, urged the mall be extended for further study to determine whether a permanent mall is a "mirage or something within the city's grasp."

The mall's extension would be financed privately, but the city was urged to assume responsibility for its maintenance.

Lawlor said that a majority of the downtown business interests have endorsed the plan. "There is no known opposition," he added.

Question Of Intent

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The insistence often heard lately that businessmen get into politics has been tempered with advice from some of the businessmen themselves and from the chairmen of both national political parties. In essence, they advanced the admonition that such activity by businessmen be followed only with a lofty motive.

The pursuit of politics as a means of advancing one's own special interests was presented as dangerous and perhaps even illegal. No truer nor more timely words could have been uttered.

The statements strike at the very heart of the most serious challenge which faces the American people today in their choice of public officials. This is the need for public officials who are dedicated to the interest of their community, their state and their nation as a whole, not the interest of small minority groups.

It calls for an official who works, not for business or labor, but for programs and policies which will best advance the welfare of all people. As one of the national party chairmen put it, the businessman should approach politics as a private citizen, not as the owner or operator of a firm.

This is one of the most noticeable shortcomings in public office today. Government is rapidly becoming a place and a means for the advancement of special interests. It is filled on all levels with people who are seeking a certain advantage and who are unconcerned about the possible effects of this advantage upon others.

In short, there is not the proper moral atmosphere in political life today. Public office is not being sought for what contribution the individual gaining it might make to his fellow man. It is being sought for personal reward and the enrichment in one way or another of limited groups. This cannot help but result in bad legislation and the failure of many worthwhile programs. It is not at all uncommon for a very de-

Government is not the place where groups and individuals should be feathering their own nests or the place where the taxpayers are fleeced. Rather, it should be the one place where the rights of the individual are held to be supreme and the principle of equality under the law is the guiding force.

The pursuit of public office on any other basis results in a destructive rather than constructive approach. It develops an atmosphere of competition and conflict that is unnatural and undignified. It does not tend to mold our nation into one force. It does not give us the unity of spirit and purpose we so vitally need to meet today's threats upon our way of life.

It fails to provide us with leadership, imagination and integrity. We become, instead, a mass of people running in many different directions, each person oblivious to the needs and desires of the other but bent on his own advancement at any expense. This does not mean that we must all think and act alike or that we must all profess to be of a single political belief. But it does mean that, whatever we do and however we vote, we must do so from convictions of honesty, decency and the general welfare of all people.

No vindication, but enrichment; not ourselves, but others; not negation, but positivism — these are the choices which will permit us to grow in pride, freedom and justice. If our legislative process continues the predication of action upon narrow and punitive conceptions, as is so evident today, we will eventually destroy ourselves.

The three Republicans who sat on the report are: William McCulloch of Ohio, William E. Miller of New York, a well-known friend of the public utilities; and George Meader of Michigan. Meader, however, has been a member of the committee only this year, was not familiar with the hearings of last year, and said he needed time to study the voluminous records.

Finally Chairman Manny Celler of Brooklyn went to Rogers and urged him to vote with his fellow Democrats in getting the report to the public. He pointed out that American Tel and Tel, with its subsidiary Western Electric, had been guilty of flagrant antitrust violation and had used all sorts of wire-pulling to get their case, which was brought by the Democrats, settled in the Justice Department by the Republicans.

Finally, Celler got his report released. Manny is guarding its contents as if it contained the secrets of the hydrogen bomb. How-

AT & T Report To Get Airing

WASHINGTON — For several weeks there has been a hush-hush effort inside the House Judiciary Committee to pigeonhole a dynamite-laden report on the world's biggest utility, American Telephone and Telegraph. Three Republican congressmen and one Democrat have been sitting on the report.

The three Republicans who sat on the report are: William McCulloch of Ohio, William E. Miller of New York, a well-known friend of the public utilities; and George Meader of Michigan. Meader, however, has been a member of the committee only this year, was not familiar with the hearings of last year, and said he needed time to study the voluminous records.

The report tells of secret meetings between Brownell (then attorney general), Pope and Price in the Statler Hotel in Washington and the Greenbrier Hotel in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. Pope is a member of the executive committee of the New York Telephone company, also a director of the Statler hotels. Senator Keating, New York Republican, a good friend of New York's Congressman Miller who sat on the report, is a director of one of Pope's Midland banks. As a result of the Department dropped its case and A.T. and T. with a milk-and-water consent decree.

The man who negotiated the consent decree for Brownell was Edward A. Foote, the Justice Department attorney who later was fired for having a conflict of interest—namely, buying stock in Warren Petroleum at the time his office was passing on its merger with Gulf Oil.

Cultural Exchange Works

The people of the United States have now had two years in which to judge the virtue of the cultural exchange program between this country and Russia. The verdict is good.

Russia has seen our stage show, "Porgy and Bess," our films, "Lili" and "Oklahoma." It has heard and honored our pianist Van Cliburn. It has enjoyed less published American art and the music of American jazz.

In turn, America has been thrilled by the performance of the Moiseyev folk dancers, seen the Bolshoi ballet and its enthralling performance of "Swan Lake". It has heard David Oistrakh and Leonard Koenig and seen the films of Dostoevsky's "The Idiot."

If there have been efforts toward political propaganda the effect has been negligible. The great facts that have been emphasized

Be Patient With Justice

The latest action in the case of convicted mass killer Charles Starkweather leaves the community in a highly disturbed emotional state. It is understandable that many people might feel that, somehow, justice has been thwarted. At the last second, the death sentence against Starkweather was delayed and at least another two weeks of life granted the 20-year-old youth.

But it should be remembered in all of this that the important thing here is not revenge, not an eye for an eye. The important thing is that justice prevails and that an individual who has done a great wrong to society be properly dealt with. The latest legal maneuver made in Starkweather's behalf is not a sign that such will not be done. It is, as a matter of fact, just the opposite.

Under our system of law, an individual is entitled to the protection of state laws and the federal Constitution. As a nation, we have not seen fit to deny the individual either one or the other of these protective rights. Starkweather has exhausted the pro-

As Others See Us

The Sure Thing

From The Wall Street Journal
It's no wonder the House Appropriations Committee lopped $100 million off the soil bank conservation reserve program whereby Uncle Sam pays people for not growing crops.

Notice, please, we say "people" and not "farmers." Senator Williams of Delaware, who disapproves of investing taxpayers' money, claims a lot of people harvesting money from the Federal Government are "not in reality farmers." And the House Appropriations Committee not only backs that up, but goes even further.

Representative Whitten of Mississippi, chairman of the House group, disclosed that five Colorado people will receive from the Federal Government payments this year equal to about half what they paid for their farms last year. They'll thus not only recover their full purchase price in two years, but they'll receive soil bank payments for eight more years. And only drastic tightening up of administration of the law will prevent them from pyramiding their gains, by buying more farm land and putting it in the program.

The $100 million cut may or may not stand up in Congress, where the soil banking conservation reserve feature has not only a lot of friends but some members who are taking advantage of it themselves, doubtless to see how well it works.

Well, if the idea is to see how much money can be spent on land so valueless a state will rent it out for 25 cents an acre, this program is an unquestioned success.

But if the idea is to take out of production enough farm land to reduce the annual farm glut, there's an even surer way to go about it.

If Congress were simply to ignore the farm bloc and stop supporting farm products at unrealistic levels, the free market place would not only set the prices of products but also of the land.

Break Through

The average man's idea of a scientific Utopia was fulfilled recently in Florida where a research team, over a reasonable period of time, ate 450 T-bone steaks. The purpose was to determine the true nature of tenderness. The belching scientists concluded that tenderness is hereditary and has little to do with packing house grading or feed lot finishing.

Incidentally a hog research team came through with the smashing discovery that pigs don't like to lie on their back. We don't know whether that's hereditary or not, or what use the world is going to make of it. But now you know.

Three To Be Ordained Here; 2 Brothers Of One Are Priests

Three Lincoln men, including one who has two brothers who are priests, will enter the priesthood of the Catholic Church Saturday.

The answers, furnished by an authorized Army spokesman, included not only criticism of the Senate committee recommendation—something rare for one of the armed forces to do—but also a sharp rap at the Air Force's competing Bomarc missile system.

'Evaluation'

Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), chairman of an Armed Services subcommittee which spent 3 years studying the weapons systems, said his group was interested "in weapons evaluation, rather than an argument between services."

Stennis told a newsmen the committee "seeks to strengthen the defenses of the nation and make them more effective."

Shortly before the Army brought its battle into the open, the unofficial Army-Navy-Air Force Journal had prodded the Army. The Journal said there had been surprise and consternation in Army circles because Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker did not immediately attack the Senate committee's action on May 14.

The answers were reported to reflect the views of top Army policy makers.

'Serious Gaps'

The Senate committee's revision of a House-approved military construction bill, the Army spokesman said, "would leave serious gaps in the nation's air defense missile system in the United States" and Hawaii.

The Senate committee recommended that $17,322,000 of the $22,413,000 intended for Nike Hercules sites be clipped out of the bill.

Involved in the issue, the spokesman said, are 50 Hercules battery sites at 25 Strategic Air Command bases in the United States and 8 in Hawaii.

Production of equipment for the sites, already under way, will have to be stopped if the committee's recommendation is followed, the spokesman said.

Riser Executed

San Quentin, Calif. (AP)—Richard G. Riser, 33, went calmly to his death in the prison gas chamber for a 1955 double murder. He had received three reprieves.

Riser and his brother, Roscoe, 34, were convicted of the 1955 holdup-murder of Earl Hastings and his wife, Pauline, at their cafe near Oakdale, Calif.

Richard Riser was sentenced to death. Roscoe got a life term and is in Folsom prison.

FDIC To Begin Paying Bartlett Bank Depositors

Washington (AP)—The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. said it will begin paying off insured depositors of the insolvent Bartlett State Bank of Bartlett, Neb., June 1.

Deposits of up to $10,000 will be made good by the federal agency.

The bank, with deposits of about $400,000, was declared insolvent by Nebraska's director of banking.

Permission

Ottawa, Ont. (UPI)—The United States, which does not recognize or trade with Communist China, gave permission for Red Chinese goods to be shipped from one Canadian point to another over U.S. highways and railroads. The U.S. Embassy here, which announced the decision, said it was being done for the sake of relations between Canada and the U.S.

Production of equipment for the sites, already under way, will have to be stopped if the committee's recommendation is followed, the spokesman said.

Public-Use Areas Protest Meeting Attended By 200

Lincoln Star Special
Blue Rapids, Kan.—Some 200 residents of the lower Blue River valley north of Randolph, Kan., met here to protest a Corps of Engineers plan for public-use areas on the Tuttle Creek reservoir.

The plan calls for development of 9 initial public-use areas, all to be located south of Randolph.

The Blue Valley Sportsmen's Club called the emergency meeting to formulate the protest.

A resolution passed unanimously at the meeting calls for at least 4 public-use areas north of Randolph, plus unrestricted use of the reservoir area with the exception of a proposed 34,000-acre grassland national park site in Potawatommie County.

A Brand New Supply Of News

A brand new supply of news this morning and not one dull moment in it.

First we want to tell you about something that happened in Omaha last Monday—it was the marriage of Mrs. Bart Egan (Betty Thornton) to Walter Tudor, also of Omaha. The ceremony took place at Christ the King Church.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Tudor will reside in Omaha.

The farewell courtesy mercury-round for Mrs. Robert Edgren who, with Mr. Edgren and their children, Mark and Susie, soon will be calling Oakland, Calif., home, began turning on Thursday morning when Mrs. Jack Martin was a coffee hostess at her home.

Next week's series of affairs for Mrs. Edgren will begin on Wednesday morning when Mrs. William Becker entertains at a 10 o'clock coffee at her home. And among the 15 guests will be Mrs. Harold Cullinan who soon will be a new neighbor. Mr. and Mrs. Cullinan purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgren, 3223

Dear Abby . . .

Financially Speaking—No!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who visits me constantly and calls me on the phone every day. The only thing I have against her is the questions she asks about our finances. She asks the price of everything I have in my house. When I wear something new she asks how much I paid for it. She asked me what my husband's salary was, how much taxes we paid. Yes, Abby, she has even inquired about how much my telephone bills and grocery bills are every month. I am fed up to the teeth with these questions. How can I put a stop to this without hurting her feelings.

FED UP

DEAR FED: What feelings? The next financial question she tosses should not be answered. Give her a great big beautiful smile (and show all those teeth you are fed up to) and tell her sweetly, "It's none of your business, Dearie."

DEAR ABBY: I have a great problem on my hands. I am a boy of 17 and I smoke. However, my parents do not know it. My Dad smokes, and when I hint I would like to smoke he says it is bad for me and he'd never allow it. I have tried

Only 24 of the 43 members were present for the afternoon session so bills advanced were limited to non-controversial matters.

'Leg Man' Eyes '61 For 3rd Major League's Debut

New York (P) — The man who has done the leg work in efforts to organize baseball's 3rd major league Friday set 1961 as a target date for its debut.

William Shea, chairman of New York Mayor Robert Wagner's baseball committee also said:

1. It had not yet been decided whether the new league should consist of 8 or 10 clubs.

2. That he has met individually with representatives of prospective cities and that he and these representatives have been meeting regularly as a group.

3. That while he would not identify the cities involved, they represent every part of the nation which does not now have major league baseball, and that includes some Canadian cities.

In addition to New York, Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth, Toronto, Montreal, Minneapolis-St. Paul, New Orleans, Seattle, and Denver have been mentioned in previous discussions of maior league expansion.

With the exception of New York, all of those cities now are represented in the minor leagues. George M. Trautman, president of the minors, said Friday that his group would not "resist the entrance of a 3rd big league of any of our cities."

The existing major leagues, in a special meeting of the 16 clubs and commissioner Ford Frick Thursday in Columbus, Ohio, decided to welcome an application for a 3rd league which they previously scorned.

Among the stipulations made by the majors, with most of the requirements established in present rules, was one which stated that any application would have to be made 10 months before the opening of the season in which the new league would operate. Another stipulation was that each club in the proposed league must have available, or a commitment for, a stadium with a minimum capacity of 25,000.

Shea, a New York attorney, said "it will take some time to get our house in order, but we ought to be ready to present a plan within 5 or 6 weeks."

That date, presumably about the first week in July, would miss the deadline for next season. The lack of stadiums also precludes a 3rd league debut in 1960, even if the new clubs were able to acquire the necessary player personnel in that time. The acquisition of players, ranging from a minimum of 200 (25 per club in an 8-team league), apparently is not considered an insoluble problem by Shea and other representatives of the proposed league. There has been no indication, however, of where the necessary major league talent would come from.

"If we wait any longer than 1961 to get started," said Shea, "it will hurt baseball. We should not have to wait this long. The majors could have made this decision last December, or before, and we might have been ready for 1960."

While the majors stipulated they would be willing to consider a plan for another 8-club league, Shea with representatives of the prospective cities had not determined "whether an 8 or 10-club league would be more suitable. We have more than 10 cities available."

Shea added that the third league would not have any trouble meeting the 25,000-seat minimum for it stadiums. "Some are already built, others are under construction. Some present stadiums are being enlarged. You have to figure about 18 months for the construction of a stadium, and if we got stuck we have other facilities available on a temporary basis."

He declined to say whether the 3rd league had any idea of moving into existing major league territory other than in New York. Frick said the majors made no stipulation that would prevent such an invasion.

Hoyt Wilhelm 1-Hits Yanks

... Orioles Triumph, 5-0

Baltimore (P) — Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore Orioles knuckleballer who tames the New York Yankees when they're riding high or low, blanked the cellar-dwelling World Champs 5-0 Friday night on one hit.

A leadoff single in the 8th inning by Jerry Lumpe ruined Wilhelm's chances of duplicating his no-hitter over the Yanks last Sept. 20 when New York was winging along to its 9th American League pennant in the century.

The schools which voted against renewal of the bowl contract were Ohio State, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Illinois. This issue resulted in a formal 5-5 stand-off, and the same split was voted on a motion to strike from the conference handbook a provision which excluded Rose Bowl play from the Big 10's long-standing ban on post-season competition.

This clause had been written into the book in 1946 when the Rose Bowl agreement first was assigned.

While the new Rose Bowl policy apparently lets the field open for any Big 10 team to play in the Rose Bowl, it appeared unlikely that the schools which have rejected renewal of the policy would permit their teams to go to Pasadena.

Cards' McHan To Green Bay

Chicago (P) — Quarterback Lamar McHan was traded by the Chicago Cardinals to the Green Bay Packers Friday in return for a future high draft choice.

McHan, 26, came to the Cardinals after starring for the University of Arkansas and was the club's No. 1 quarterback until Rookie M. C. Reynolds took over late last season.

Wilhelm has only 20 hits and 4 earned runs in his last 50 1-3 innings dating back to last year's no-hitter.

The loss was New York's 8th in the last 9 games and

WEATHER SPOILS NU TITLE HOPES

The weather, which has taken a dim view of sports in this area all spring, kayoed the University of Nebraska's Big 8 title hopes here Friday afternoon.

Tony Sharpe's uphill-climbers had to take all 3 games from Kansas State this weekend and Missouri had to dispose of first-place Oklahoma State if the Huskers were to retain title aspirations. The OSU-MU game was also rained off Friday.

But Friday afternoon's drizzle served as the coup d' grace for the Scarletts.

A doubleheader with the K-State Wildcats is slated to start at 10 a.m. Saturday, weather permitting, of course.

Even if the Huskers win both games they'll have only a 11-4 record, and a .733 percentage. Oklahoma State can lose both games to Missouri and be 15-5 and .750, good enough for the title and a shot in the NCAA regionals.

Nebraska is still in the battle for second place with Iowa State, however. And a sweep of the twin-bill today would help the Husker baseballers post the highest windup for an NU club this year.

the 5th for Turley in 8 decisions. Wilhelm has won his last 6 starts and pitched 5 complete games during that span.

Switch-hitting Mickey Mantle changed tactics against the puzzling Wilhelm and batted righthanded for the first time since 1957 against a right-hander. He grounded out twice and walked twice.

Conrad Questions Late Appeal, Denies Brooks Behind It

Saturday, May 23, 1959 The Lincoln Star 13

By Don Walton
I cannot help but wonder why this resort was not exercised until the 11th hour." Administrative Assistant Robert Conrad told Lincoln Kiwanis Club members Friday noon.

His comments were in reference to an appeal by the parents of Charles Starkweather to Federal District Judge Richard E. Robinson which resulted in a temporary stay of execution issued early Friday morning.

The stay, Conrad emphasized, did not result from an executive order or action by Gov. Ralph Brooks.

"It should be positively and abundantly clear that the governor's office had nothing to do with it," the aide said.

Brooks has twice previously turned down applications from Caril Fugate and her attorneys for a stay of execution for the convicted killer.

4:30 Phone Call

Conrad said he was called about 4:30 a.m. by Acting Penitentiary Warden John Greenholtz informing him of the court order. Judge Robinson called a few minutes later.

Robinson said he had been contacted by Guy Starkweather about 2 a.m., and had been working in his office on the order prior to calling at 4:45 a.m., Conrad said.

Robinson had previously talked with Federal Judge Robert Van Pelt by telephone, he told Conrad. Conrad later talked with Van Pelt.

A U.S. marshal served the order at the Penitentiary at 6:10 a.m., he said, 10 minutes after the redhead was scheduled to die.

No Commutation

The federal court order, Conrad pointed out, is "in no way a commutation of sentence."

On other matters, Conrad told Kiwanis that "any matter of policy" in the Brooks administration "is the governor's policy" despite charges to the contrary from some sources.

He pointed out that few relationships require a need for closer co-ordination than that of governor and his administrative assistant.

Brooks, Conrad said, is providing Nebraska with "a bolt new cadence" in its march to future progress.

Petitions For Swim Pools Are In Circulation

Beatrice, Neb.—If petitions being circulated by the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce acquire the necessary number of signatures, Beatrice residents will vote on a proposed $170,000 swimming pool. The petitions call for putting the matter of issuing bonds for the construction on the ballot at the next city election which would be in April, 1960.

The pool would be located in Chautauqua Park in south Beatrice, rather than where the present one is in Riverside Park. The Park Board has endorsed the plan and the JayCees will circulate petitions.

'FIRED' ATTORNEYS OFFER SERVICES IN HANDLING STARKWEATHER APPEAL

Both of Charles Starkweather's attorneys, whom he "fired" several months ago, expressed willingness Friday to handle his appeal to the federal courts.

T. Clement Gaughan and William F. Matschullat, who had been appointed in Lancaster District Court and defended the youth at his trial last May, said they also offered to process a clemency appeal to the State Pardon Board.

But Starkweather, Gaughan said, told them that "none of the people he killed" had begged for their lives and that "he wasn't going to beg for his."

Already Filed

Gaughan said he and Matschullat later found that when Starkweather had told them this he had already filed on his own a request for a Pardon Board hearing (the clemency request was later denied).

Matschullat said he and Gaughan "worked our hearts out under adverse conditions" in defending Starkweather.

Judge Gardner said Starkweather has until June 4 to file his appeal from a denial in District Court at Lincoln of a request for a writ of habeas corpus.

A stay of Starkweather's execution will be in effect until the appeals judges make their decision.

Time Uncertain

"It would be impossible to say how long it would take the judges to reach a decision but I would not expect that it would run into a lengthy period of time," Judge Gardner said.

In the event that all federal procedure is unavailable for Starkweather, the question of a date and hour for the execution would then revert to the Nebraska state courts.

Asked for comment on a critical statement by Nebraska Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck regarding federal intervention in the Starkweather case, Judge Gardner said:

"Federal courts are loathe to intervene unless constitutional questions are involved."

Stocks Gain By Narrow Margin

New York (P)—Industrials mustered enough strength Friday for a moderate stock market gain which pushed the Associated Press average to a record high by a narrow margin.

Rails faltered after a brief continuation of Thursday's big rally and the carriers finished the day irregularly lower. Utilities also were uneven and a bit on the downside.

Gains by rubbers, tobacco and chemicals combined with selective strength among steels, motors, electrical equipment and other groups to give the market its new highs.

Volume slacked to 3,030,000 shares from 3,230,000 Thursday.

The Averages closed 50 cents higher, with the Dow Jones up 20 cents to 14,620. The industrial component rose $20.10 while the rails and utilities each dropped 20 cents.

On the floor, 378 rose and 434 fell. There were 49 new highs for the year and 38 new lows.

The market was higher from the start and closed its upside edge despite late profit taking.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks advanced, 4 declined and 3 were unchanged.

Corporate bonds declined.

U.S. government bonds improved in quiet dealings.

Bond sales totaled $4,850,000 par value.

Caril Unaware Of Charles' Reprieve

York, Neb. — Caril Fugate hasn't been told that her ex-boyfriend's execution has been stayed for two weeks and probably won't learn of it from Women's reformatory officials, Mrs. Hattie Bowley, superintendent, said.

Mrs. Bowley said Caril goes to school and keeps busy in her room and she has not seemed any different in recent days, or given evidence of any unusual tension.

She said Caril does not have access to radio or newspapers.

Curtis Will Support Strauss' Nomination

Washington (AP) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) said Friday he will support Senate confirmation of Lewis L. Strauss as Secretary of Commerce.

The nomination of Strauss, former Atomic Energy Commission chairman, for the cabinet post has been approved 9-8 by the Senate Commerce Committee. A vote is expected in the Senate next week.

"Adm. Strauss is an able, dedicated public servant. He has had wide experience and is well fitted for the job," Curtis said. "It is my belief that any president should have complete authority to pick his own cabinet. This is necessary if he is to carry out his program."

Curtis also said Strauss has been "unfairly criticized" in connection with the Dixon-Yates contract.

"It should be pointed out," Curtis said, "that the Dixon-Yates contract for power for the atomic facility at Oak Ridge, Tenn., was much more favorable to the government than two previous contracts of similar nature which were entered into during the Truman administration."

Johnson Selected

Syracuse, Neb. — B. A. Johnson, Syracuse High School music supervisor, was elected president of the Otoe County Teachers Assn. Other officers include Marvin Schacht of Talmage, vice president; and Ruby Harms of Syracuse, secretary-treasurer.
